

What is Articulation?

The MOCC and several postsecondary institutions have a written agreement to grant credits for successful completion of most MOCC programs. The credits may not be transferable and are only recognized at the participating institution.

How do I Apply for Articulated Credit?

1. Communicate with your program instructor that you are interested in articulating credit. Don't forget to ask your instructor for qualification and approval. You may also contact the MOCC office for more information.
2. Identify the school you are interested in and research what courses are approved for articulation with your MOCC program.
3. Fill out the appropriate form with the MOCC Office.
